

Career 2.0: What's Next?

A Workshop Designed for the Young Professional

Be more.

Facilitator: Kathi Crawford, SPHR, IAC-CC

Workshop Description

Do you like your job yet you're not sure what's next? Do you want to grow your career? Do you want to recognize a dead end job before you get into it? Do you want to know how to get past people who don't take you seriously?

Attend this workshop to identify the steps you need to take to create a future of your choice. Make this the year you move in the direction YOU choose.

This workshop is all about putting you in the driver's seat of your career. It is not about the mechanics of getting a job. Nor is it about "fitting in" or doing what other people want you to do. It's about acknowledging what is important to you and assisting you to get where you want to be.

Key Takeaways:

- Identify and learn what career path you are most passionate about
- Shift connections and find people who can help you move in that direction
- Manage your current situation and chart a plan into a suitable career situation
- Learn how to communicate and be heard by coworkers and superiors using a powerful behavioral assessment intertwined with coaching and personal action planning
- Craft career "experiments" to try on the possibilities through a process of trial and error
- Use your personal brand to create leverage
- Next? Plan your career path with the end in mind

This interactive workshop is held over four sessions with each session lasting three hours. You will complete the Birkman Method® online assessment to help you learn about yourself and others and your individual occupational focus.

This time of your life is meant for self-discovery, redefining what is important to you while charting your path to success and fulfillment. You can have the career you want and be successful doing it. You just need the tools to help you get there.

If you've already got a handle on your career and are ready to "amp it up", you won't want to miss this workshop!
